Engineering and construction firm, The Carey Group, has agreed a land deal with Milton Keynes Development Partnership (MKDP) for a high-quality commercial development in Milton Keynes.

The new development will be built on a 15-acre site in Elfield Park, between the A5 and West Coast Mainline and will provide a combination of office space, training facilities, production and storage facilities creating job opportunities within Milton Keynes.

The Carey Group has an existing office in Bleak Hall and a manufacturing facility at Stacey Bushes, with strong historical ties to Milton Keynes dating back to 1972. The company played a pivotal role in completing numerous infrastructure, highways and building projects that have contributed to the town's development, growth and expansion over the last 50 years.

MKDP Chair, Nicola Sawford, said: “The Carey Group has a long-standing association with Milton Keynes, and I’m delighted MKDP has been able to help facilitate the company’s increased presence in the town.

“This new site highlights MKDP’s role as a supportive and collaborative partner and promotes Milton Keynes as a place where major companies, such as The Carey Group, can thrive and prosper.”

John Carey Jr, Carey Group Deputy Chairman, added: “This will be a high-quality scheme that re-purposes a disused piece of land, allowing for a phased development which can be delivered over time to create an exemplar highly sustainable industrial development, targeting BREEAM Excellent.

“We are very excited to be working with MKDP and our development partners Beyond3 to unlock this opportunity.”

The Carey Group will now apply for planning permission for the Elfield Park site with the intention to start construction works in late 2021.
